INTRODUCTION.

Lt.-Col. Colin Mackenzie, C. B. and the " Mackenzie Collections."

Colonel Colin Mackenzie was a native of the island of Lewis. Little is known of his parentage, education and early life. He came to India in 1782. His contact with the scholars of South India impressed him with the idea that the most valuable materials for a history of India might be collected in different parts of the country. During his stay at Madurai he first planned to make a collection of manuscripts, and this afterwards became his favourite hobby for 38 years of his life. This collection is now the most valuable as they contain historical documents relating to India. It was not until his return from the Ceylon expedition in 1796, that accident rather than design gave a fresh impulse to the prosecution of his purpose of collecting manuscripts and information bearing on the literature and history of India. From 1796 to 1806 he was employed in the investigation of the Geography of the Deccan and in mapping the country. After the completion of his work, he was appointed Surveyor-General of Madras. In 1817 or 1818, the Colonel was appointed Surveyor-General of India. In the year 1821 he died at sixty-eighth year.

The " Mackenzie Collection is so named after the late Col. Colin Mackenzie.

From 1782 to 1818 the Colonel collected various collections of manuscripts, coins, inscriptions, maps and plans bearing on literature, religion, history and manners and customs of the people in South India in as many scripts and languages as were current in the South, besides numerous addition from Ceylon and Java.

On 1818, before proceeding to Calcutta to take up his new duties as Surveyor-General of India, he appears to have sent to England presumably to the court of Directors of the East India Company—seven folio volumes of materials relating to the Geography and history of the country with general and provincial maps. Colonel

Mackenzie took his collections to Calcutta and added to them and worked at them till his death in 1821. With the sanction of the Court of Directors the Marquis of Hastings then Governor-General of India, purchased on behalf of the East India Company his collection for £10,000 from the widow of the deceased. The collection which was in no fewer than 14 languages and sixteen different scripts was catalogued by Mr. Wilson at Calcutta. A portion of his collection as well as several volumes of English translations were sent to England in three batches in 1823, 1825 and on a subsequent year. The entire collections in the languages of Southern India and the inscriptions were lodged in the Manuscripts College Library in 1828. From 1830 the Collection was in the hands of the Madras Literary Society. In 1847 it was transferred to the College Library. About 1838, the Rev. William Taylor prepared under the orders of the Government of Madras and with the sanction of the Court of Directors and the East India Company, a catalogue of the Mackenzie Collection which formed the third volume of "A Catalogue Raisonnee of the Oriental Manuscripts in the Library of the College, Fort St. George, in charge of the Board of Examiners."

The Mackenzie Collection is now in three different places one each at Madras and Calcutta and the Library attached to India House.

The East India House Collection.

About 1837, Mr. C. P. Brown of the Madras Civil Service found in India House Library a collection of manuscripts in Tamil, Telugu and Kannada characters belonging to Dr. Leydon who was in India from 1803 to 1811. Dr. Leyden was a great traveller and a linguist. His collection was bought at his death by the Company and preserved in the India House.

Browns Collections.

On completing the catalogue of the East India House Collection, Mr. Brown presented to the Company his own valuable collection of manuscripts which is almost entirely in Telugu characters one-half of the collection being in Sanskrit and the other half in Telugu. He has written with his own hand notes to several manuscripts and in some cases has also given summaries and English translation at the end of the volume. To this collection Mr. Brown was continually making additions up to the date of his departure, with the consent of the Honourable Court of the East India Company. The Government of India appointed Mr. W. Taylor, a distinguished Orientalist in 1853, to publish a Catalogue Raisonne of the Contents of the 'East India House and Brown's Collections similar in character to Professor William's Catalogue of the Mackenzie Manuscripts.

The Government Oriental Manuscripts Library, Madras, contains nearly 500 volumes of historical collections known as Kaifiyats collected by Col. Mackenzie. Most of the volumes are in Telugu and a small number is in Kannada, Tamil and Mahrathi (Modi script). It was in the time of late Mr. C. P. Brown that an arrangement was made to transcribe these Mackenzie Volumes and at his own expense he completed the transcription of 62 volumes out of these collections. These are known as Brown's Local Records.

This Mackenzie Collection mainly forms a basis for the reconstruction of the history of South India in general and the Andhra country in particular as they contain political, religious, Social, Geographical and other valuable information regarding each village in every district. The development and the growth of the Telugu Literature under the patronage of various Kings is traced. As such the volumes are indispensable for the investigation of the ancient Andhra culture and civilization. Since the collection is more than a century old it has become necessary to restore and transcribe the entire collection as many of the originals are fading away.

The Government of Madras, with a view to popularize the importance of the Collection, has launched upon a scheme to publish Descriptive Catalogues of these volumes.

The importance of these volumes has attracted the attention of the Research Department of the University of Madras which is making considerable use of these collections.

The present volume contains the description of 1–150 volumes. For each volume a brief description is given in the beginning along with the condition of the manuscript. Each account of the village is then separately described giving the original folio numbers and the Telugu portion at the beginning and at the end of the account. The volumes belonging to other languages are also briefly described and they are put in square brackets.

Though this is in continuation of the XIII volume in the series of the Descriptive Catalogue of the Telugu manuscripts, the numbering and the pagination adopted in this XIV volume is entirely different and do not form a continuation of the previous one. The volume contains descriptions of 762 villages contained in 150 volumes of Mackenzie Collections. For each of the 762 villages a serial number is assigned with the letter "M" prefixed to denote that it refers to the Mackenzie Collection.

It is hoped that the description of the entire Mackenzie Collection will run into three volumes. The Government have specially sanctioned the post of a Telugu Pandit for this important work. Sri C. Narasimhachariar, M.A., was in charge of this work till the end of 1948 and Sri T. L. Narasimha Rao, B.SC., took charge of this work in April 1949 and both of them have prepared the descriptive notes for the 150 volumes. My thanks are due to Sri T. L. Narasimha Rao, B.SC., Telugu Pandit of this Library, for revising the entire press-copy.

A DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE

OF

(LOCAL TRACTS—TELUGU)

Volume 1.

Substance, paper. Size, quarto. Condition and appearance, good. The scribe is Mallayya. The statements are dated mostly 15th November 1812. It is found transcribed in Brown's Local Record, Volume 50. There is also another restored copy in the library bearing R. No. 1078. This mainly contains the accounts of Chintapalle, Chilakalorepadu, Sattenapalli and Repalli districts. The historical account is traced through Gajapatis, Reddis, Moguls up to East India Company. The language is not chaste. [Vide H. H. Wilson's Catalogue of Mackenzie Collections, page 1.]

M 1. కొండవీడు (KONDAVEDU).

Folios. 1–25. Account of Kondavedu and the Rajas. Puranic introduction. Notice of the rule of Harihararayalu and his donations. Account of the Reddy rulers and the grants made by them to the Brahmins as Agraharams. Condition of the city in Mogul rule is described. The city then passes into the hands of East India Company. A detailed description of the temples, hills, forts, caves, tanks, etc., is also found.

Volume 41.

Substance, paper. Size, quarter demy, old bound. Condition, much moth eaten. Handwriting is clear and legible. This is restored in R. No. 1100. There are 53 folios. The first part in first 32 folios are in Telugu. The remaining portion is in Modi.

The scribe of the volume and the date are not known. But it is said that this is the report by Maharastra clerk of Mackenzie—Narayanarao by name, the account of the diary at the end gives only month and date but not year.

M. 146. సదాశివ రాయల శాసనములు (SADASIVARAYA INSCRIPTIONS).

This volume contains the gist of various inscriptions, 114 in number. The first folio deals with it (folios 3 to 17). At places, each inscription is disposed of in two or three sentences. (The text of the inscription is nowhere recorded.)

The inscriptions are all records of inams given by the authority of Sadasivaraya of Vizianagaram. There are inams of sarvamanyams, service inams, temple endowments, etc. The details given are meagre though the records mentioned are very important.

M. 147. నారణరావు దినవహి (NARAYANARAO DIARY).

The latter half folios 17 to 32 merely give the diary of clerks submitted to Mackenzie office. These pages show, how he got various records. At many places, it is mentioned that he came across many inscriptions in Tamil. But no information about those Tamil inscriptions is given.

Volume 42.

Substance, paper. Size, quarter demy. Condition, very old, much moth eaten—cannot be easily handled. A few folios are in Modi script. The reporter is Narayana Rao, clerk, Marati Department of Mackenzie office. The date is April 1814. This volume is restored in R. No. 1101. There are 64 folios. The information given was got while he toured through the district of Venkatagiri. The contents of this volume deal with descriptions of his tour and the diary submitted by him. The inams mentioned in this were mainly given by Sri Rangaraju while Tirumala Deva Raya was ruling at Vizianagaram.

M. 148. వెంకటగిరి సంస్థానము (VENKATAGIRI).

In the first 15 folios 114 inscriptions are mentioned. From folio 16 to 17A the genealogical table of Velugoti family, the rulers of Venkatagiri Estate is given.

The other folios give the gist of various inscriptions, all of them dealing with inams only on important, historical information. This volume is mainly a diary of the clerk, and it seems he was entrusted with copying all important books.

M. 149. కొన్ని శాసనాలు (SOME INSCRIPTIONS).

The last folios deal with an account of 28 inscriptions.

Volume 43.

Substance, paper. Size, half demy, much moth eaten. Condition and appearance, very old. At some places it is completely eaten away. Many folios are pasted with tissue paper on one side. Brown Local Record, Volume 15, contains this account. There are 78 folios of which the first two give the contents. There are 7 accounts in the volume. Almost all are genealogical accounts of rulers of various places. It is written that these places are from Malabar, etc. These accounts are written as if contributed by the Zamindars and submitted to Mackenzie. The year is 1814. The reporter and scribe is Mallayya.

M. 150. చికటి వృత్తాంతము (CHIKATIVRITTANTAM).

Folios 3 to 9. This is an account contributed by the Zamindar of Chikati Estate, Sri Maheswara Rajendra Deo by name. The formation of Zamindari, the origin of the name 'Chikati' is given. The succession of the rulers, their name, duration and their activities are recorded in chronological order.

M. 151. మల్లయ్య దినవహి (MALLAYA DIARY).

Folio 10 to a portion in 12A. The diary of the clerk Mallayya. From the middle of the folio 12A, a short account of the rulers of Beidi is given, giving the name of the ruler, and his period. The grouping of the villages, and the karnams appointed also are recorded up to folio 14A.

M. 152. హుమ్మా జమీందార్లు (HUMMA).

Folio 14 A commences an account of the Humma Zamindars and the karnams appointed under them. The origin of this line and the succession of rulers are mentioned as usual. The copies of the sanads of agraharams and inams of this Zamindari are mentioned from folio 15B. Accounts of the temples also are given here and there. All the villages in the estate are given in a list. The temple accounts are given much in folio 22, etc. From folio 24 the names of certain places, the chiefs appointed, and the arrangements made are recorded. From folio 27, the karnams of each village are recorded.

M. 153. అరుగడ (ARUGADA).

Folio 30.—An account of the Zamindars of Arugada taluk sanads of agraharams, villages of jagirs, etc. The information is given in the form of a diary of the clerk, the information received from day to day. The rulers are mentioned in chronological order, giving the year of rule, and achievements, if any. From folio 32, the names of villages, the King ruled, the time of creation of agraharams, the name of donee, etc., are given. The names of the villages and the karnams, are recorded in folio 33B. The recent rulers are given from folio 34B in the chronological order and some family history. The information is, on the general lines as (a) the name of the village, (b) the name of the karnam, (c) the name of agraharam holder, etc., are given to the end of folio 38.

Folio 39.—Here another taluk is described. Some folios are lost here. The account that is available is only the names of the villages and the names of the karnams, are given in detail, the name of each village, its details, whether an agraharam or not, the name of Agraharam holder, etc.

M. 154. కుర్ల పరగణా (KURLA PARAGANA).

Folio 40.—The name of the place is not known, but this seems to be Kurla Paragana. The record gives the names of the villages, their karnams, and the names of agraharams with the names of the donees. The time when given and by whom, etc., are also recorded.

From folio 43 we get an account of the temples.

M 155. చిన భీమదేవుల నగరము (CHINA BHIMA DEVULANAGARAM).

From folios 43 to 57.—An account of Pratapagiri taluk drafted on the same lines as above. This taluk is known as China Bhima Devulanagaram also.

Folios 58 to 73.—Here one folio is lost. So the name of the place cannot be made out. The last four folios are completely moth eaten. So the information that can be got is meagre. The rulers are traced in chronological order. All the villages and their respective karnams are recorded. The agraharams one by one are noted with the particulars of the date of donation, and the names of donee.

Volume 46.

Substance, paper. The bound volume is $\frac{1}{4}$ demmy size. But the pages are of quite different sizes. The volume is much injured and not well bound. The paper is easily breaking. There is a restored copy of this volume in the library bearing R. No. 1103. This is mainly the report of the progress of Venkata Rao on his journey in the Hyderabad in the years 1818, 1819 and 1820. (Vide H. H. Wilson's Catalogue of Mackenzie collections, pp. xxvi. Account No. LV.)

M 163. నారాయణ రావు దినచర్య. (NARAYANA RAO'S DIARY).

There are about 17 reports. The report contributes the work he did, his diary, the information he got, manuscripts he copied and the account of the books he sent to Calcutta to the main office. The report runs from day to day.

The language is not chaste. No historical facts are given. Even other details are not noted. He took care to copy down the inscriptions and gather manuscripts on his tour.

At many places there are duplicate copies of his tour report. The reports are very short. Though so many villages are mentioned, we get no information about any of them. The restored copy (R. No. 1103) is not in order of the original. The beginning is in page 97 of the restored copy.

Folios 1 to 4.—(The same copy is in folios 80 to 82). Just mention what he did during the month.

Folios 5 to 17.—(Same copy as folios 17 to 29).

Folio 17.—Corresponds to 101st page in restored copy. The restored copy tries to put the reports in order of months. The original is rather scattered. This portion ends with page 141 in restored copy.

Folios 5 to 17.—(Which forms a copy of folios 17 to 29) are restored in 142–184 of restored copy.

Folio 17.—The stone inscription in Halekannada standing at the north of temple of Sivayam Kalidevara in Devapuram is mentioned.

Folio 18.—Inscription in temple of Rameswaram.

Folio 19.—Inscription in Ramalingasami temple. Inscription in Basaveswara temple installed by Chalukya Vikrama.

Folio 20.—Inscription in Chinna Mekur. All the inscriptions are in Halekannada, in Telugu script. They are broken at many places. The date is not easily made out. In many cases inscriptions in Ganapati temple by Western Chalukyas.

Folio 20-B.—History of Hagaveti village which is alleged to be Yekachakrapuram.

Folio 21.—Inscriptions from this village.

Folio 21-B.—Hagamili village and inscriptions by Pratapa Chakravarti. Lakshmipati was made " Karanakerava ".

Folio 22.—Yevēru village and inscriptions there which give genealogy of Prime Ministers of Chalukya Kings. The account is very detailed containing up to folios 25-B.

Folio 25-B.—Inscriptions in Swayambhuvaswami temple.

Folio 26.—Inscriptions in the village of Anddi.

Folio 30.—This is the report for the month of June. The books he gathered are mentioned. His diary is given. It is mentioned that the Kaifeouts of village of Cherukupalle, Gundumetikallu, Adaki, Chittapura were prepared and sent. The distance between various villages is given.

Folio 33.—Report for the month of July.

Folio 37.—A stone inscription found in Kali Deveswara. This belongs to one Chalukya King.

Volume 48.

Substance, paper. Size, half demy. Condition very old and the paper is brittle and easily breaking. Handwriting is very close and clear. This is contained in Brown's Local Record, Vol. 7 and again restored in R. No. 1105. This is mainly an account of Mogaltur district in the Telugu country. Genealogical accounts of Pratapa Rudra and Pusapati Vijayarama Raja. Particular account of Rajas and Padushas of Delhi with a legendary account of the temple of "Kanchi". (Vide H. H. Wilson's Catalogue of Mackenzie Collections, pp. xxvii, No. LVII.) The first folio speaks something of Visakhapatnam. As the matter appears disconnected some folios seem to have been lost. The second folio gives the contents in English. The record is signed by Kavali Borrayya. The time of the record is not known.

But at the end there is a remark in English and it is signed and dated June 1848. The seven kaifeouts mentioned in this, deal with genealogical accounts of some families. Much is legendary. They speak of the achievements of various kings and how they won various battles. All is full of mystic facts. At many places, the greatness of places and miraculous deeds that took place are described. The dates of various kings are given, but their validity is doubtful. Folio 3-A commences the story of capture and escape of Prataparudra. Then the creation of 6,000 Agraharams by Prataparudra is described. Folio 6. The creation of Hamumadgiri by Ekamaranath and the springing up of Kakati rulers and construction of Ekasila Nagar are detailed. The folios contain an elaborate history and the conquests of various rulers of Warangal.

M 165. మొగలతుర్రు (MOGALATURRU).

Folio 11.—Commences the kaifeout of Mogalturru family. This is an account of family of Rajah Tirupati Rajah Bahadur of Ellore; contributed by himself. How their ancestors formed the estate of Mogulturru, and how the dealings with the Muslims influenced them, are recorded. How this family lost so much of their estate at the instance of other zamindars and their restoration by Pusapati Vizia Ramaraju are given.

M 166. పూసపాటి రాజు (PUSAPATI RAJU).

Folio 17.—Commences a genealogical history of Pusapati Viziaramaraju of Srikakulam (Chicacole), viz., Bobbili, Palakonda, Verugondi, Imagudia, Kasimkota are described in folio 18-B.

Folio 19.—Contains a list of all the rulers of that area with details. This account is continued in folio 20 also.

M 167. కాంచీపుర చరిత్ర (KANCHI CHARITRA).

Folio 21.—Commences the history and glory of Kancheepuram. This account is given by Kavali Venkata Borrayya. This is all a legend, much centred about God only. The present temple is described in detail. A list of rulers and some achievements of their are mentioned from folio 25.

Volume 49.

Substance, paper. Royal size. Good paper. Handwriting clear. Condition good. Restored No. 1106.

This is also contained in Brown's Local Record, Vol. 2.

This is a kaifeout of rulers of Surapuram Zamindars in Hyderabad from the beginning.

This is prepared by Venkatarao. Date 1820 January. (Vide H. H. Wilson's Catalogue of Mackenzie Collections, pp. xxvii).

M 168. సురపురం రాజులు (SURAPURAM RAJAS).

There are 21 folios. The rulers are traced from very ancient time in chronological order. This attempts to give all important dealings of the kings with other rulers. But the information is not based on authority. First, a few kings are described as having msytic powers.

Some other rulers and their activities and good and charitable deeds are described. Details of the military force maintained by them is given at many places. Rulers 10 to 14 Qeera Jambu Nayaka, Balasoma Nayakar, Pedasami Nayaka, Desai, Jakkappa Nayaka are mentioned in folio 4. Construction of Fort of Vagina Giri by this 14th ruler is narrated in folio 5. His attack on Abdulla Khan at the instance of Badushaha is described. Pammi Nayadu the 15th ruler, is dealt from 6th folio. His construction of temple of Sajjakrishna at Surapuram, his attack over Alamgiri's forces are described in folio 6-B and 7-A. The 16th and 17th Ammanagi, wife of Pammi Nayadu and Peda Bada Nayaka, are described in 7-B and 8-A folios.

In dealing with each ruler, his family accounts, few details of his valour and construction of choultries and temples are given.

M 169. బడ్డి నాయడు (BADDI NAYADU).

The war between Delhi Padusha and Baddi Nayadu is described in folio 8. How first he ran away and how he reconquered after gathering forces is detailed. In between his defeat and reconquest, the havoc caused by Muslims is described, like destruction of temples, killing cows, etc. A great many deeds of Baddi Nayaka are described at great length. These include the numerous inams he gifted away. Folio 11-B, commences the history of Pammi Nayaka the 18th ruler. He is described as a pious man. Nineteenth ruler was Vada Nayaka and 20th was Venkatappa Nayaka. The battle between him and a Muslim ruler Najar Zang is mentioned.

M 170. పమ్మి నాయక (PAMMI NAYAKA).

Folio 12-B.—Commences with Pammi Nayaka, the 21st ruler in the line.

M 171. వెంకటప్ప నాయక (VENKATAPPA NAYAKA).

Folio 14.—Another Venkatappa Nayaka, 22nd in the line. The matrimonial alliances between so many are detailed. His contacts with the Mogals and so many arrangements made between them are given.

M 172. వడ్డి నాయకుడు (VADDI NAYAKA).

Folio 16.—Katimma (23rd ruler), Vaddi Nayaka the 24th ruler are dealt with Vaddi Nayaka's war with Bijpur and the marriage of his daughters are described in folios 17-B and 18-A. Venkatappa Nayaka is the 25th and final ruler. His construction of temples and grants to Gods are given. Folios 19-B and 20-A contain some details of the village Surpauram estate.

[Substance, paper. Size, half demy. Script, modi. Condition good. Appearance, old. This is not restored. This is mainly an account of Sriharikota, Dugarajpattanam Bhandanapuripattanam, etc., in Telugu districts. It contains 11 accounts. (Vide H. H. Wilson's Catalogue of Mackenzie Collections, pp. xxviii, No. LIX.) Account No. 6 is that of Masulipatam. And account No. 7 deals with the exports, imports and factories at Masulipatam. The other accounts deal with the history of Karnatics. For details, see Descriptive Catalogue of Modi manuscripts of Mackenzie.]

Volume 51.

Substance, paper. Size, royal. Condition, much injured and moth eaten. Paper very brittle. Many folios are broken to pieces. This is restored in Volume R. No. 1107. This is not restored in Brown's Local Records. This is mainly an account of Jagannatha and a genealogical account of the Kings of Odhra Desa or Orissa. (Vide H. H. Wilson's Catalogue of Mackenzie Collections, pp. xxviii, No. LXI.)

M 173. పూరీ జగన్నాథ స్థలవృత్తాంతము (PURI JAGANNATHAM).

This is a record about the history of temple at Jagannatham (Puri) and the rulers of Oriya country. The whole record can be divided into two parts, the former dealing about the temples and the latter about the line of rulers. The second part commences from folio 28. The folio, between 40 and so are much injured. The handwriting is not uniform. The first folios are very clear and legible.

Puri has another name, Purushottamapuram. For a great length the history given is all legendary.

Folio 7.—While Sobhana Deo was ruling there was an invasion by Moguls from Delhi and Rakta Bahu. Then the king Sobhana Deo ran away hiding the God at a well-guarded place. This was again found out in Lalata Kesari (folio 9).

Then how the temple was improved during the rule of various kings, is described, at times giving the details of donations made during the time of Lalata Kesari, a big temple was built. Another king Gangeswara, who married his own daughter (folio 13) constructed choultries, etc., as a punishment for his sin.

In folio 16 the details of compound walls are given. Folio 16-B describes the events leading to construction of Kapileswarapuram Agraharam.

M 174. మాణిక్యపురము (MANIKKAPURAMU)

Folio 17-B gives the details of Manikkapuram which was named after a concubine of the king. Folio 18—Birth of Patapa Janamani is detailed. Folio 20—The deeds of Purushottama Deo Raju are given, folio 21 describes the war with Kesara Khan and folio 22 describes the rule of Narasinga Deva Raju, who constructed Narasingapuram Agraharam. Folio 24 says that Hari Krishna Deo built terrace to the temple. Folio 28 commences the genealogy of the line of rulers of Oriya country. This is all in Sanskrit—metric composition. This is only an account of kings given in order.

The early portion, the history of temple also contains the same matter, but the temple as centre of information. Here the rulers as the thread of information, whoever extended the kingdom, improved the temple, constructed Agraharams, etc., are detailed in this account. The duration of each rule, invasions from outside, etc., are mentioned.

Volume 52.

[Substance, paper. Size, ¼ demy. Script, modi. This volume is not transcribed. Paper old and brittle.

This is mainly an account of the Revenues of the Karnatic, together with the four rulers, copied from the ancient records. (Vide H. H. Wilson's Catalogue of Mackenzie Collections, pp. xxviii, No. LXII.) For detailed description, vide Descriptive Catalogue of the Modi Manuscripts of Mackenzie Collections.]

Volume 53.

Substance, paper. Size, ⅛ demy. Condition, bad, moth eaten. Many folios are much injured. This is titled under "Tellingana Kaifeouts." This is not transcribed but it is described in the Telugu Descriptive Catalogue, Vol. I, p. 405 under D. 364, "Srisaila Mahatmyam."

The author of the accounts is not known. But the date is given as January 1811.

The volume is divided into two chapters. Chapter I describes the Greatness of the sacred hill Srisailam. The Chaper II gives the holy places of Amaresvaram in the Guntur circars.

M 175. శ్రీశైల మహాత్మ్యం (SRISAILA MAHATMAYAM).

The Amareswarapuram account is legendary. But a slip is attached, signed by N. Venkata Subbarao saying that he visited the places, found it to be Jain or Buddist place and the account need not be legendary. This account as stated at the top is from Scandapuranam. This is all in Sanskrit. The first folio contains the contents in English. The first account "Round the Holy Mountain of Srisailam" gives the account in a narrative style. This describes the various places and Gods in all temples and holy places and tanks. At each place the authority for his statement is quoted from texts. The author gave his commentary following the Sanskrit text. Folio 3 says that Brahma got his place 'Creator' by going round this. At many places the Holy places are extolled to a very high place. This is only a mere repetition.

Folio 4-B.—Talks of Siddeswaraswamy and folio 5 about Mallikharjuna. Details how to worship the God are given at many places. Time of worship are also is given. The description of so many Gods, their places in the temples, their days of worship and festivals have taken much part of the narration.

Folio 12.—Describes the greatness of Markandeya Lingam.

Folio 12-B.—Rameswara and Kaleswara are mentioned.

This information is useful for those who visit the place. The second part which commences from folio 47 is about Amareswara Thirtham. The record itself says that this is from Scandapuranam, Krishna Mahatmyam and Amareswara Thirtha Mahatmyam. This is in Sanskrit. This mainly deals with the description and greatness of the river Krishna.

Substance, paper. Size, half demy. Condition, much injured, many folios are moth eaten and are fading away. Writing is not clear. The volume is not well bound. This is found transcribed in Local Record, Vol. VIII. No other copy is available in the library. There are 96 folios. There are a few blank sheets in the volume. It is written "Tamil Local Tracts." Some kaifeouts are signed by Nittala Nayani, Clerk, Mackenzie Department. The time of the accounts is not known. In some cases the source is not known.

M 204. తొండమాన్ పాళియగార్లు (TONDAMAN POLLEYAGARS).

There are about 12 accounts in this volume. The important ones are about Tondaman-family, Pollygars in Madura and an account of some holy places like, Chidambaram, Mannargudi, Sreerangam, etc. The other Records are about genealogical accounts of some Pollygars like, Katakam in Tanjore, Chengy in Arcot, etc. The accounts of Devastanams are got mainly from the temple authorities and those of Pollygars from chief Pollygars. The first two folios give the contents of the volume. All the places dealt with in this volume are from Tamil Nad. The Telugu is very poor.

M 205. రామాయణ కథ (RAMAYANA KATHA)

Folios 3 to 16. Ink is fading away. It seems that there must be some more matter before folio 3. The folios 3 to 5 deal with Rama's life in forest and Lakshmana's help to him. The context seems to be the place, where all these things happened. The last portion is about Vibhíshaṇa and his advice to Ravana. In folio 5-B a short account of Navathírtham is given. In the subsequent paragraphs a short account of each place is noted. Folios 6 to 16, this is all metric composition, describing the achievements, habits, customs and family traditions of Tondaman Pollygars. Brown says "this is the title of the family of Zamindars in Tiruchirappalli district". The narration is by the poet to a chief, tracing the line from Indra. The chiefs in the family are named one by one, giving an account of their matrimonial relations, their issues, etc. In describing some of the kings list of titles is given about each. How they fought battles and also how they honoured poets are described in detail. This description is given about Raghunatha Rayalu. His court is described. His battle against and defeat of Odayarpalem are described. How he got the title of "Raghunath Tondaman" from Vijaya Raghunatha Sētupati is detailed. Pandya Simha Nalla Pathe Sing are mentioned. From folio 13 prose is begun. The four folios 13 to 16 give a short genealogical account of the Tondaman family with no details and descriptions. The important persons dealt with are Sētupati, Raghunatha Thondaman, Rangakrishna Mudduveerappa. How they ruled and had contacts with neighbouring rulers are detailed.

M 206. పండరు తిరుపాద దొర మఠము (PANDARU TIRUPADA DORA MATTAM).

Folio 17 only. This account is about "Pandaru Tirupada Dora Mattam" seems to be quite incomplete.

M 207. జంబుకేశ్వర స్థల మాహాత్మ్యము (JAMBUKESWARA MAHATIYAM).

Folios 18 to 23. This portion also is much faded away. The portion that is bright enough is much clumsy and difficult to go through. This is an account of the Devastanams of Jambukeswaram and other places. A legend of Sri Kalahasti is repeated here that an elephant and spider worshipped God Siva and after their death, the spider was born as Shonikha Chola. The legend says that the place was named after the elephant. The legend continues that Shonor Chola built a big temple by the help of God's on the banks of the Gandaki River. A detailed account of how the temple was improved from time to time is given. In describing the place various legends of Vibhishana, Viswamitra, etc., are mentioned. The whole record is fully legends.

M 208. తిరుచినాపల్లి (TIRUCHINOPOLY).

Folios 24 to 29. Three short accounts of Trichinopoly Subha, Kadambarugudi, Devastanam of Makshikachala Parvatam and Ratnagiriswaram.

Folios 30 to 31 give us only a few lines at the top of each page. These lines say under whom those places were and who used to adorn Gods and some other duties are mentioned.

M 209. కర్ణాటక కైఫియతు (KARNATAKA KAIFEOUT).

Folios 32 to 34. A short account of Karnatakam, Katakam family, Madura, Trichinopoly, etc., estates. A list of kings is given and in folio 34 the same list is given in Sanskrit verses.

M 210. తొరయూరు రెడ్లు (TORAYURU REDDIS).

Folio 35. An account of Torayur Reddy Estate. Three Reddis are mentioned in this. Anavēma Reddi's family is mentioned.

Folios 36 to 38. Reddis of Torayur Pallem. A short account. Here Yerrama Reddy of previous folio is continued and describes how he became Pollygar.

M 211. అరియలూరు పాలియగార్లు (ARIYALURU PALLIYAGARS).

Folios 39 to 47. An account of the Pollygars of Ariyallūr Mallava Rayalu of Karnatakam, Madurai, Trichinopoly estates, etc. This is an account of Nayinar caste of whom Rama Nayinar is the first. How he constructed the town of Ariyallūr and how he became Pollygar under Veera Narasimha Deva of Vizianagaram Empire. Then his line is traced giving few details of the battles they fought and improvement of temples under them. In the latter part, how Agraharams sprang up, and how the Pollygars fixed peshcush, etc., are described. Various small battles which these Pollygars took part in, are described. From folio 47 a list of Prime Ministers are mentioned from time to time, with their caste.

M 212. తిరువల్గర దేవస్థానము (TIRUVALGARA DEVASTHANAM).

Folios 48 to 5.1 A short account of the Devastanam of Tiruvalgara in Laluguda taluk. This is only a legend how this temple was built. A temple of Pundarīkāksha and Pankaja Valli.

Folio 51 only. The names of family of Rama Nayinar and Bhīma Nayinar are mentioned. A list is given.

Folios 52 and 53. A list of Reddis of Anavema Reddy family is given along with their titles and impliments of war.

M 213. రామ నయనారు (RAMA NAYANAR).

Folios 54 to 63. The line of Ramanaynar is again traced with details beginning from Ramanaynar. The battle between Rama Mālavarayalu and Pratāparudra is described. The titles awarded to Mālavarayalu are mentioned. His just rule, valour and charities are mentioned. It is traced how the Pallayem decayed from the next generation and how it passed from Muslim to the East India Company. At the end, a list of rulers and the ministers and their duration of office are given.

M 214. చిదంబర దేవస్థానము (CHIDAMBARA DEVASTHANAM).

Folios 64 to 72. A Kaifeout of Chidambara Devastanam with legends. All these incidents are mentioned. Chitsabha, Kanakasabha, Nrutha Sabha, Devasabha, Rajasabha are described in detail as they stood at the time of the kaifeout. Folio 68 gives the greatness of Sivaganga. At every stage, the greatness of the place is detailed with some incidents that took place there.

Folios 73 and 74. The greatness of Vishnu.

M 215. చెంజి పాళెయగాళ్లు (CHENGI POLLEAGARS).

Folios 75 and 76. A short account of estate of Chengy-Polleagars of Vannaya caste, the account commences from Sali 1656 under Rangappa. His Jagir and Military under him are described.

M 216. మన్నారు గుడి (MANNARU GUDI).

Folios 77 to 80. This kaifeout of Mannargudi also is full of legends. Another legend of Dandaka Malaraju and how he was freed from sins is described. The temple and the festivals with their times, etc., are described.

M 217. కొందరు పాళెయగాళ్లు (SOME POLLEAGARS).

Folios 79B and 80 give us the Polleagars and how they lost all their properties are detailed. The first mentioned is Lakshmappa Naidu under Atchutappa Naidu. The temple under them is described. It is written at the end that the information was got from Srinivasacharylu Scribe is Nittala Nayana.

M 218. శ్రీరంగము (SRIRANGAM).

Folios 81 to 85. The matter here is not connected. This portion deals about the greatness of Srirangam as told by Siva to Narada. The portion that can be made out form only legends as any other purana.

Folios 86 to 96. This is a long account of greatness of Srirangam divided into ten chapters, as told by Siva to Narada. This is full of Sanskrit poems. The ink is fading away. It is with some difficulty that we can read the record. There are numerous legends. The temple is described along with the list of all particulars and their importance.

Volume 85.

Substance, paper. Half foolscap size of medium thickness. Condition, old and moth eaten. Paper is brittle and easily breaking. Some folios are loose. The size of the folios in the volume are not all of the uniform size. There are 72 folios. Some accounts are incomplete.

M 219. కంజీవరము (CONJEEVARAM).

The scribe is not known in any case. The time of collection also is not mentioned anywhere. There are ten accounts of which, the account of the Chola Kings and that of Conjeevaram take the major part. Some of the portions of this volume are got transcribed by Brown in L.R. Vol. 21. 1st folio contains the contents in English.

M 220. గోవ్యాఘ్రము కథ (GOVYAGHRA KATHA).

Folios 4 to 8. This is a small story of a lion and a cow taken from texts for school children. The cow fell in the hands of a lion and asked its permission to go and see its calf before it was eaten up. The lion permitted the cow to go. The cow returned after seeing the calf. All this is described. The conversations are beautiful.

M 221. చోళరాజులు (CHOLARAJULU).

Folio 9. An account of the Kings of Chola rulers. Their achievements are mentioned against their names.

Folios 10 to 34. This is an account of the Chola Kings in detail. This commences from Vayaluvali Adithya Chola. This literally means 'one who is taken to heaven from the middle of the way.' He is a Saivait. How he ruled his kingdom and his great donation to Siva are detailed. His greatness is described in a legend. The next is about Subha Chola. The legend of Jambukeswaram where an elephant and spider killed each other to get opportunity to worship god Siva, is told. It is told that the spider was reborn as Guna Chola, son of Subha Chola. A legend how God Siva tested Gunachola of his devotion and gave his salvation is narrated at length.

The next is about Poghali Chola, simply a legend. Kripali Chola, his devotion to Siva and the donations he made, temple he constructed are described. His son Vēdhi Vadagudu, his visit to Tininvalūr and the legend of the death of a calf under chariot, etc., are described. Bhopāla Chola and his devotion to Siva are described in a legend. The legend how the Cauvery is diverted to sea is described.

M 222. కైలాస మాహాత్మ్యము (KAILASA MAHATMYAMU).

Folios 35 to 36. An account of Kailasam Mahatmyam. This is a mere description of Siva and the mountains on all sides of Kailasam. Some three places are described as 3 heavens. There must be one more folio in the original which is missing as Brown's transcribed copy continues the account.

M 223. కాంచీపురము (KANCHIPURA).

Folios 37 to 43. This is a puranic account of Kanchi. Siva Kanch is dealt with here. Its greatness is described in a lengthy way. How so many were purified is detailed. The temples, their festivals are described The temples and Gods are described in folio 39B. Folio 39B commences about Akanneswara temple, its description, and its greatness. Folio 41 gives a list of Siva temples and various Gods consecrated there. Folio 42 commences a short descriptive account of the temples of Goddess and historical account of the temple.

Folios 44 to 49. In these folios 48 places are given around the mountain at Kanjeevaram. The places where certain idols were kept, the mountain regions, and places where certain events took place, like where Droupadi prepared curds, etc., the chariot of Arjuna, and such others are recorded.

M 224. తిరువేంగడస్వామి (TIRUVENGADASWAMI).

Folios 50 and 51. Contain a short account of the temple of Tiruvengada Nathaswamy and Subrahmanyaswamy near Yelumalai Estate. It is mentioned that Errakanu Bomma Naidu improved the Tiruvengada Nathaswamy temple and Nallatadu Nayana improved Subrahmanyaswamy temple.

Folios 56 to 60. There are about four accounts here. All are incomplete, without beginning or ending. These seem to be all legends, about devotees of Vishnu and Siva.

M 225. లౌక్య వ్యవహారములు (LOUKYA VYAVAHARAMULU).

Folios 61 and 62. These folios are titled " Loukya Vyavaharamulu ". These pages deal with the kings that ruled over Kanjeevaram, their achievements, their devotion to Gods, etc. These are detailed. The interference of the Muslims from time to time also is traced. How this was made an estate and the fixing of peshcush, etc., are mentioned.

M 226. కాంచీపురము (KANCHIPURA).

Folios 63 and 64. This is a small puranic incident dealing with Kanchipuram about Siva and Vishnu. No sources of authority are given.

M 227. రామనాథపురము (RAMANADHAPURAM).

Folios 65 to 72. Kaifeout of Ramanadhāpuram giving history of Kings of Setupati. How the estate was formed is given and the account is continued by giving the line of the rulers with a few details of the way of their rule and the duration of each.

Folio 67A gives their contact with the English people. Folios 69 and 70-A give us a diagram of the genealogy of the Kings and the folio 69-A contains a small table of the Kings and a few details.

Volume 94.

Substance, paper. Size, quarto demy. Language, Telugu. Script Kannada. Condition, much injured but well mended and neatly bound. This record is transcribed in the Brown's Local Record, Vol. 34. The volume contains 103 folios. The last folio is a note in Marati. 1st and 2nd folios give the contents of the volume. This is a detailed Kaifeout of the two villages of Bakkasamudram and Ananta Sagaram. The account is detailed with dates, incidents, etc., but at many places the accounts are only legendry.

M 232. బుక్క సముద్రము (BUKKA SAMUDRAM).

Folios 2 to 9. This kaifeout begins with the construction of the two villages of Bukkasamudram and Anantasagaram, named after the King Bukkaraya and his wife. How Chikkappa won the fancy of Bukkaraya and finally won his confidence and got huge amounts from him and constructed the two villages on the two banks of the big tanks between the hills at Devarakonda, etc.

M 233. బుక్క సముద్రపు రాజులు (RAJAS OF BUKKA SAMUDRA).

Folios 10 to 26. The changes and influence of the Muslims in the Vizianagaram Empire are described after Bukkaraya. Then the genealogical history of the rulers of Bukkasamudram and Anantasagaram is given tracing the line from Mallappa Nayani. Their rule, construction of temples and some incidents are detailed. In the last folio the story of a concubine of Basannappa Naidu, Sali 1641 is enumerated.

M 234. వొడెప్ప నాయని (VODEPPA NAYANI).

Folios 27 to 50. The rule of Vodeppa Nayani, brother of Basannappa Nayani commences here. How he was caught in a trap by Ramayee an adviser of the King and how he was handed over to three chiefs of the enemy camp, his escape from there by the help of his own people are described. The death of Ramayee also is noted. The death of Pavadappa Nayani as a result of the ghost of Ramayee is described. The account continues with the rule of Siddappa (Sali 1659). The character of Siddappa, the matrimonial relations and a few incidents in the life are described. The improvements made by Jamedar Khan are detailed as to tanks, wells, etc. His dealings with all the neighbouring chiefs and how he arranged safeguards to his kingdom are detailed. All their family affairs and how they were settled are given. Then we find how the two chiefs of Bukkasamudram and of Bellary tried to be united, by adoption of children, etc. This account is full of small details, all domestic, conversations and settlements at various stages. This gives the details of their armed forces also. In between the improvements made in the estates are mentioned. The details are in chronological order. Then the account describes the conspiracy by Ramappa of Bellary and how he killed Ramappa of Anantapūr. Page 254 of the Brown's copy describes the escape of Ramappa of Bellary from the hands of the enemy and how he was protected by some farmers. The whole history is narrated like a story. It is described in minute detail how Ramappa of Bellary met all the chiefs, gathered forces and went against Anantapuram rulers. The fight between both the forces is described. How the fight came to an end, and how Ramappa of Bellary was revived to his position as a ruler is described (Sali 1678). An incident that Ramappa collected head tax to pay the chiefs of Muslims is mentioned. How Balananthа Roya demanded money from Ramappa and Ramappa in despair killed many soldiers of Balanantha Roya at various places is noted (p. 273).

M 235. శిద్ధ బసవప్ప (SIDDHA BASAVAPPA).

Various diplomatic steps taken by Sidda Basavappa are described. The details of various conversations and arrangements with so many chiefs are detailed. Page 292 describes the interference by one Rudrappa who helped Sidda Basavappa in strengthening his position.

M 236. శిద్ధ రామప్ప (SIDDHA RAMAPPA).

P. 301 commences the rule of Sidda Ramappa. The various charges in that short interval, the interference of the Muslims and how they demanded money are described.

How this place came under so many duel to the divisions brought in by Muslims is described. Death of Sidda Ramappa, Sali 1710.

M 237. పెద రామప్ప (PEDA RAMAPPA).

Page 307. Rule by Pedda Ramappa commences. How the whole family of Sidda Ramappa was taken to Sri Rangam by the Sultan of the place is given. The details are centred round Ramappa and his brother Basavappa. How the taxes were collected and how the chiefs were exercising their sway is described in the facts given. History connected with Tippu Sultan is commenced from page 319. Here the record is full of domestic matters only till matrimonial matters, relationships, petty quarrels, etc.

Folio 102 gives how the estate was divided and the karanams here appointed to various divisions of the estate.

Volume 97.

Substance, paper. Size, half demy. Condition, good, well bound. The records are contributed various people. The handwriting differs rom place to place. The third folio contains the contents in English. This is transcribed in Brown's Local Record, Volume I.

M 248. కామలాపురము (KAMALAPURAM).

There are 9 accounts in this volume, all being about villages only. There are 87 folios. The date of the documents is nowhere mentioned from pages 1 to 208. All these villages are in Kamalapuram district. These are mainly legends and these give the history of each village in chronological order of the rulers and the events that took place under them. The boundaries, etc., are mentioned in all cases. In cases of inams and donations, as far as possible, the inscriptions also are mentioned.

M 249. కోడూరు (KODURU).

Folios 1 to 19. Brown pages 1 to 35 in volume 1, L.R. This is a kaifeout of Kodur in Kasuba Kamalapuram. The origin of the village its temple and the properties of the temples are mentioned. The inscription also is copied. The rulers of the village are traced in chronological order with dates in Sali era. Some incidents in each rule are mentioned. How the village passed under the influence of the Muslims and how this became a jagir is mentioned from folio 12. In the last folios the list of temples and the crops grown, etc., are recorded.

M 250. చెన్నకేశవుని ఆలయము (CHENNAKESAVA TEMPLE).

Folios 20 and 21-A. These are not copied in Brown. This portion is the legend of the origin of Chennakesava temple. This account is continued in the next folio. Folios 21-B to 35-A. (Brown, L.R., Vol. 1, 36 to 65). This account is given by Chakravartula Venkatacharyulu and Appayya the karnam, and written by Giriappa. The time is not mentioned. The account is given in chronological order from the time of Krishna Deva Raya. The account details, how the rulers improved the temple. The festivals, etc., are described. All the rulers are traced one by one. Incidents like the building of new temples and donations made, etc., are mentioned. The villages, nine in number, donated to the temple are listed at a place. It is also traced how this town came under Muslim rule and how this became a Jagir. Folio 32 contains a list of some events with years when the city went through fatal days. In the last pages the village boundaries are described with the details of trees, etc.

M 251. ఇభరాంపూరు (IBHARAMPUR).

Folios 35-B to 36. (I. L. R. Brown, 66 to 68). This is a short account of Ibharampur to the East of Sambatur, which is built after the name of a Fakir's son. Its history is given in the form of some events traced in chronological order. Its boundaries also are given. Dated 20th June 1811.

M 252. అల్లిదోన అగ్రహారము (ALLIDONA AGRAHARAM).

Folios 37 to 39. (Brown's Vol. I, page 69). There is a stamp of wild bore in a circle and some Sanskrit is written thereunder. Folios 39-B to 88 (Brown, L. R., Vol. 1, pages 73 to 133). This is an account of Allidona Agraharam in Kamalapuram district. The history is traced from the time it was given as Agraharam by Proudha Devaraya. The record says that the information was got from the palm-leaf record from the people there. Folio 37 says that the history of the Agraharam is traced with all the inscriptions and copper plates, available.

This history is traced from A.D. 1418. The divisions of the Agraharam, the building of temples are given. The various castes and sub-castes of people are listed. The fields, their owners, etc., are mentioned. This is all useless information. At every step, the boundaries, the extents etc., of fields are mentioned. The service inams also are detailed in the same way. From folio 48 (Brown, Vol. p. 100) the history how the estate changed lands, is traced from Vajhala during the rule of Kumara Ananta Rajayya. How the estate was claimed by various people, because the original records were lost and the matters developed, etc., are described. Their talks and correspondence also are mentioned. All the account is given in the form of a narration by the author, as if he is the last man. How various arrangements are made to carry on the estate are described in detail.

Folios 59 to 66. (Brown, L. R. I., pages 156 to 179). This also is an account of Allidona from other sources. This is shorter. The introductory paragraph says that the boundaries and extents of fields differ at places. The history is quite the same as given before, but the order of events given is a little different. This account gives the division of the estate between so many from time to time, the extent of the fields and boundaries are mentioned. The history is traced in chronological order under the rule of various people. In the last folios 64 and 65, the service inams are mentioned. In the last folio 66, the crops grown, important persons, and some handcrafts, etc., are mentioned. Historically nothing is important.

M 253. ఉప్పులూరు (UPPULURU).

Folios 67 to 75-A. (Borwn, L. R. I., pages 156 to 179). Kaifeout of Uppuluru. Two incomplete inscriptions are copied on the folios 68 and 69. These show that a Chola King gave this Agraharam to one Bhaskara. The inscriptions are in Hale Kannada. The history of the town is traced from the time of Narisimha Deva Raya of Vizianagaram. Its tanks, etc., are detailed. The improvements to the city from time to time are mentioned. The inscriptions, all, are incomplete. The history is in chronological order. The stone inscriptions at the temple are mentioned. The chiefs of this village, their family details, are recorded. The account is detailed. Some inams and service inams, agraharams are detailed. In the last pages of this account, its boundaries and the trees in forest, the animals, etc., are listed.

M 254. ఉప్పులూరు పాళెయగాళ్లు (POLLYAGARS OF UPPULUR).

Folio 75-B. This is not transcribed in Brown. This is the genealogical table of a family of Pollyagars of the village of Uppulur described above.

M 255. కొలవలి కైఫియతు (KOLAVALI KAIFEOUT).

Folios 76 to 87. (Brown, 180 to 208). This is the last kaifeout, Kolavali. This history is traced from the time of Chola Rulers. Then, there were big workshops of brass, etc., and hence this got the name. Two inscriptions about the town are mentioned and transcribed what was available. The rule under Saluva family is mentioned and two broken inscriptions are mentioned. The history is continued being traced in chronological order, giving the name of the ruler, year and some details of the improvement of the city and the temples, etc. The extents and boundaries of tanks etc., are recorded. Information like, the inams, crops grown, the taxes, etc., fixed are recorded. The names of some people who improved the town by building hamlets digging wells and some other such things are given.

M 256. వలదుర్తి (VALADURTI).

Volume 98.

Substance, paper. Size, quarter demy. Volume, not bound. Condition, much injured. The papers are here and there moth eaten. Some folios are very bad. The handwriting is clear and about 20 lines a page. There are 17 different accounts in this volume. The source of the information, except in the case of a few, and the author are not mentioned. The time of the record also is nowhere mentioned. There are 108 folios. The first four are only introductory. The whole volume is transcribed in Brown, L. R. 3, from pages 1 to 163.

M 257 ప్రొద్దుటూరు (PRODDUTURU).

Folios 5 to 37. This is kaifeout of Proddutur. This was obtained from the Brahmins of the place, chiefly from Ravuluri Sita Ramudu Lingaraju and Kompalle Venkatapati Reddy. The origin of the village of Ravulur and the construction of Anjeneya temple there are given. The details of the property of the temple and the Chief Priest therein, are given in order. The details are minute but not important in any way. The improvements of the temple made from time to time are recorded with the details of the rulers and their donations. Folio 9 says that the village of Proddutur was granted by Timmaya Deva Maharaja in Sali 1470. Folio 10 gives an inscription which states that Acham Rami Reddy gave an inam to Narasam Bhotlu in Sali 1515. The change of Reddies is mentioned and in Folio 12-B, it is traced how it changed from hand to hand. The history of the town is traced in chronological order from folio 14-B onwards giving the names of the chiefs who held it under them. The account given is too detailed.

M 258. కొన్ని శ్రోత్రియాలు (SROTRIAMS)

An account of the srotriams in the village is given from folio 20. The extent, name of owner, description of soil, its boundaries, etc., are mentioned. The inams given by Muslims are given in folio 22. At places, the names of donor, the purpose, etc., also are mentioned. From folio 25, information like the price list of various things, imports, exports. From folio 32 a list of temples and their financial condition are given. Folio 33-B gives an account of the religious maths of the place. Folio 35-B gives the villages on all sides of this Proddutur.

M 259. దువ్వూరు-రామేశ్వరము (RAMESWARAM IN DUVVUR)

Folios 37 to 51. Kaifeout of Rameswaram in Duvvur district. The information is got from the karnam Narayanappa. The time is mentioned as Vikari and Brown marked it as 1779. These folios contain a copy from a leaf record given by the karnam. The first folio of this record must have been lost. This contains how some settlements were made between various ryots, chiefs, etc. Their conversation, correspondence, suggestions, etc., are recorded here. Names of various persons, who took part in this are mentioned. How the dispute was tried to be solved and the stages at various places are seen from this. This is only a small matter of divisions of lands and claim over certain portions to be settled.

M 260. ఇనాందారు మనిరాం (INAMDAR MANIRAM).

Folios 52 to 57. An account of Maniram by Balanath an Inamdar. The account commences with the origin and improvement Bumireddy-palle which was subsequently turned to Maniram, after the name of a rich merchant who gave this to Brahmins. The account shows how often the owners changed and the amounts of taxes paid and the divisions that were effected. The names of the rulers along with the dates and the incidents that took place are mentioned.

The following are short accounts of the villages as noted against the folios mentioned :—

M 261. గొల్లపల్లె.—From folios 58 to 61-A.—An account of Gollapalle.

Substance, paper. Quarto demmy of medium size. Condition fairly old and moth eaten.

The handwriting is clear and legible and about 20 lines are written per page. The time of the record is nowhere given. This volume is transcribed in Brown's L.R. Nos. 10 and 11. But some accounts in this give their time and author which are mentioned below. The accounts are mostly the divisions of the villages with the names of the farmers and the extents of fields under each.

There are 99 folios and accounts of five villages in this volume. The first two folios give only contents.

289. కంచకోలు (KANDAVOLU).

Folios 3 to 17. This is an account of the village of Kandavolu. It is written on the first page that this is translated by Baboo Rao. The scribe is Narayanarao, clerk of Mackenzie office. Dated 1810. The information is from Karnam Ramanna. The origin of Ahobilam is narrated. The surroundings of the temple are detailed. The history of the place under various rulers in chronological order is traced. The inscriptions are mentioned with the contents which give the donor, donee and donation at each time. From folio 13 an account of the temples is given. In the last folio the animals, the crops, the kinds of trees and all races and castes of people are listed.

M 290. బేతంచెర్ల (BETAMCHERLA).

Folios 18 to 32. An account of Betamcherla. This account is given by Subbaya, aged about 80 years. The date is not given. The origin of the village is described as framed by a few farmers who constructed a temple of Bheteswara. The subsequent chiefs are mentioned in order. The village was changed in account from time to time. Folio 21 gives an inscription which says that Sadasiva Raya gave this village, etc., to Bukkeraju, son of Sri Rangaraju. Folio 23 gives another inscription which gives the information of the donation to Hanumantharaya temple The other folios give the same information about various inams, giving. the inscription, the donor, donee, extent of the land, etc. The rulers are mentioned in chronological order and the incidents in each rule are mentioned. The quarrels between some chief as to the ownership are described which are mainly with Muslim rulers. How the villages were divided are mentioned from folio 27-B. This information is not important, and not useful in any way. The neighbouring villages are mentioned in folio 30-A and folio 31 gives the temples. Folio 31-B gives about the crops of the place and folio 32-A describes all the sides of the village.

M 291. తేరులపురి (TERULAPURI).

Folios 33 to 55. Keifeout of Terulapuri. This is given by the Purohit Daddanāla Chinnambhatlu as recorded in a palm-leaf book. This is a copy of that: The village was divided between so-many at the time of its creation. Each paragraph gives the names of the landlord, the extent of the land, its location, etc. The measurements of the lands are detailed.

From folio 41, the families to whom lands are given subsequently are mentioned with particulars of donor, donee and the extents. The dates are given in Sali Saka. Folio 47 gives the genealogical table of the family of Subhabhatlu and folio 48-B gives the genealogical line of Agasala Chudabathudu. The continuing folios give the genealogical tables of so-many, which mainly deal with the barber, washerman, etc.

M 292. చెంగులమర్రి (CHENGULAMARRI).

Folios 56 to 70. An account of Changulamarri in Kandanavolu taluk. This record is got from Karnam Nandavani Honnappa. The date is not mentioned. The origin of the village is described as being constructed during the reign of Bukkaraju and as which grew into a town. How this decayed again and was reconstructed by Vallabharaju in A.D. 1427 is given in folio 59. How the village was improved and the rearrangement of ayacutdar sare detailed up to folio 60. Some texts of inscriptions are given, which are in Cennakesava temple in the village. The inscriptions give the information of donations to the temple along with the purpose of the donation. From folio 61, the rulers are mentioned in chronological order, giving the details of their years of rule and the improvements they made to the village. The villages in Chengulamarri taluk are given, folio 66-A. The temples, the crops grown, the villages in the neighbourhood, on all sides are recorded. The history of some of the Royal families who left the place due to the invasion of the Muslims is given from folio 68-B.

M 293. అనుపురి (ANUPURI).

Folios 71 to 110. Kaifeout of Anupuri of Koilkunta taluk. The record is of no use. In the folios 72 to 74-A, the astrological reading of the planets, etc., is given. From folio 74-A, the inauguration of certain villages is given along with the name and gotra of the person that did it. The record is full of Sanskrit quotations. In many cases, the name of the village is not given. But a blank is left there. From folio 81, the extents of the lands are given. From folio 83, the names of the rulers, their period and time are mentioned. Their donations also are mentioned wherever they are available. The dates are in Sali Saka. From folio 88, certain events like the decay of certain places, ruin of a big family, changing hands of villages are recorded. At the end and beginning of every such account, something in mystic script is written. What script it is, is not known.

The records are gathered from various people and the scribes are different. This is transcribed in Brown's Local Record, Vol. 7. There is another restored copy in the library bearing No. R. 1119.

M 312. చింతకుంట తాలూకా గ్రామాలు (CHINTAKUṆṬA).

This volume is subdivided into portions containing accounts of villages in the Ceded districts only. Folio 1 contains the contents. Folios 3 to 33. There are seven villages described in these folios. The seven villages are (1) Tondur, (2) Maddulapati (a shrotriyam), (3) Inagaluru; (4) Talluru, (5) Palur and (6) Mallela. All the said villages are from Cintakunta taluk. This record is dated 1812. The accounts are contributed by the karanams of the respective villages. These give the origin of the villages. The ayacuts and other arrangements made are mentioned.

వెంపల్లె గ్రామములు (VEMPALLE).

Folios 34 and 35 are to be taken after folio 54. These two folios give the contents of the folios 55 to 90 which contains three village accounts (i) Vempalle, (ii) Vempalle of Palagiri Samata and (iii) Nandimandalam Vempalle. The first account was supplied by the karanam of the said village. The origin of the village and the temple of Mallikarjuna. The genealogical account of the family of Sanjuraju. The donation made by Sriranga Raju Rama Raju is mentioned. The change of the chiefs under Muslim rule and the British rules are mentioned giving the dates and details.

The second account is of Vempalle written by the Karanam Appayya. The legend of the village of Palagiri and the Siva temple therein are described. The donations made and the temples built by Bhima Maharaju, Minister of Dumpi Maharaja. The divisions of the village, the neighbouring villages and the change of hands of the chiefs over the lands, etc., are given. The history of the village is traced in a chronological order. Changes under the Muslim rule are also given.

The third account written by Karanam Peddanna gives in the beginning a legend of its origin. An account of the majaras, ayacuts and agraharams are described. A detailed account of the village temples is given.

M 313. చింతపల్లె తాలూకా గ్రామములు (CHINTAPALLE).

Folios 36 to 54. In these folios 9 villages are dealt with. All the villages belong to Chintakunta taluk. Volume 107.

Substance, paper. Size, quarto demmy. Condition, very old appearance. Many folios are loose. Much moth eaten. The handwriting is clear and legible. Eighteen lines on a page. The folios from 25 are written more close at 25 lines a page. The time of the record is nowhere mentioned. The names of the scribes also are not given but at some places the names of those that contributed the accounts are mentioned. This volume contains four different hands.

There are 130 folios. The first two are thin tissue paper. They contain extracts from each of the keifeouts serving as an index. Folio 3 contains the contents of this volume in English.

This volume is restored by Brown in Local Record, Vol. 39. There is another restored copy in the library bearing R. No. 1120. As noted in folio 3, there are five accounts in this volume of which the first is genealogical account of Venkatapathi Naidu, Venkatappa Naidu, and Ramappa Naidu, Pollygars of Nadimidoddipalem in Ceded districts. The remaining four are village accounts as noted below. All the accounts are from Ceded districts.

M 317. నడిమిదొడ్డిపాలెం (NADIMIDODDIPALEM).

Folios 4 to 24. This is only a genealogical account of the polygars of Nadimidoddipalem in Ceded districts. The history is traced since Bukkerayalu. While tracing the line, the so many complications in their matrimonial relations and quarrels between one another are mentioned. This is purely a family history. This record is signed by the Zamindar Vengappa Naidu, Venkatapati Nayudu and Ramappa Naidu as witnesses.

M 318. యెఱ్ఱతిమ్మరాజుచెరువు (YERRA TIMMARAJU CHERUVU).

Folios 25 to 31. Kaifeout of Yerra Timmaraju Cheruvu. The legend of the origin of this village is described neighbouring villages are mentioned. The temple of Venkata Tirumalaswamy is described. A general account, like the population, caste of people, etc., is mentioned.

M 319. పాముడి గ్రామము (PAMUDI VILLAGE).

Folios 32 to 69. This is a copy of a document which is a kaifeout of Pamudi village. The origin of this village is a legend described at length. Folio 34 gives the list of Gods concecrated in the temple. The legend of the temple of Bhogeswara is described in folios 35 and 36. Up to folio 45 the improvements and additions made to the temple from time to time are described in detail. Himidemma is the name of a Goddess there. The temple properties are traced in chronological order beginning with Vijay Bukkarayalu. The dates of the grants of Agraharams, the persons to whom they are given, etc., are mentioned. The history of Himidi is narrated with the improvements and conditions of water-supply during the time of Rama Raya. Folio 48B describes the relations with the Muslims. From folio 52 onwards, the subsequent improvement of the temples is mentioned. The names of those that contributed for the improvements also are given. The prayer hall, etc., built for Muslims are mentioned in folio 53. Volume 114.

Substance, paper. Size, quarto demy. Appearance, old. Some folios are broken to pieces. Many folios are loose. Moth eaten at many places. Not well bound. The time is nowhere mentioned. The accounts are contributed by the residents of the villages described. This volume is restored by Brown in L. R., Volume 9. Another restored volume is No. R. 1126. There are 100 folios of which the first three contain the contents of the volume. All these places are from Ceded districts.

Folios 4 to 40. This is a record containing accounts of five villages as follows :—

Name of the village.		M No.
(1) Pedapasupula	...	M 373. పెద పశుపులు.
(2) Chinapasupula	...	M 374. చిన పశుపులు.
(3) Vulavapalle ..	...	M 3˙5. వులవపల్లె.
(4) Kothapalle ..	...	M 376. కొత్తపల్లె.
(5) Medidinne ..	...	M 377. మెడి దిన్నె.

The first four villages initially formed as Peda Pasuvula in Nosam taluq. This account is drafted by the karnams of those places. The history of Pedapasupula is traced from Tribhuvana Malla. A battle between this estate and Kurumeni village in its, neighbourhood during Trailokya Malla Deva Maha Rayalu (A.D. 1064) is described. The authority of inscriptions is cited for the statements. An inscription in the temple of Mulastaneswara, dated A.D. 1151, in Kannada, language which says that the Siva temple was built, is mentioned. The history is traced, giving the dates and names of the chiefs ruled, mentioning the incidents that took place. The information given, in many cases, is substantiated by the mention of inscriptions. The agraharams that were granted from time to time are recorded. The various inams that were granted from time to time, with the names of donor, donee and date of donation are given. In that the division of lands, the names of individuals and their shares are also given. The csess of conditional grants also are given. Some quarrels between this villagers and people of Pallepadu during A.D. 1868 are described (folio 13) as a consequence of which a different village of Vulavapalle was constructed. The Muslim rule is traced from folio 17 change of rulers, construction of mosques, grants of jagirs are recorded in chronological order. The Muslim relations with the neighbouring chiefs are detailed with a description of the battles, agreements reached and the arrangements made between them. At the end a list of the tanks, big wells, forests, temples, crops grown, etc., is given.

An account of the Medidinne, as contributed by the Karnam Chancheraju is given from folio 38. The function of this village, and its subsequent change into an agraharam under the name of Krishna Rayapuram, the names of donor and donees, etc., are given. It is mentioned that under Muslim rule much of this village was merged into Pedapasuvula village.

M 378. కోటపాడు (KOTAPADU).

Folios 41 to 47. Kaifeout of Kotapadu of Siddavatam as contributed by Narusu and Venkatramudu. The origin of a village Avulaparuneri. is described. The formation of a Fort near Kottur and its development into Kotapadu is described. The history of this village under various rulers is traced in chronological order giving the names of the rulers and chiefs. The village is described on all sides of it. Many folios are reduced to powder.

M 379. పొన్నంపల్లె (PONNAMPALLE).

Folio 48. Here many folios are broken to pieces. This is a short account of the village of Ponnampalle formed by Ponnadu of Siddhavatam as contributed by Nallapareddy and Aluri Kondareddy. The account says that this was given to God Raghunayakaswamy by Tirumalaraj.

M 380. పుట్టూరుపాలెం (PUTTURUPALEM).

Folios 49 to 62. Kaifeout of Putturupalem of Chennur Ilaka as contributed by Bodinayudu, etc. A battle between Junnuga Deva Maharaju and Brahmarakshasa Siddaya Deva Maharaju, at Somasila in which Siddaya Deva Maharaju died is narrated. The grants and inams of lands given by Jannuga Deva Maharaju on that occasion are recorded from folio 51. The deed of Kakatiyya Prataparudra Deva Maharaju's time is traced from folio 52. The incidents of repairing temples, improvement made to villages, grants of lands made for service, etc., are mentioned.

M 381. సిద్ధవటము (SIDHAVATAM).

Folios 63 to 72. Kaifeout of Sidhavatam. The time of rulers is traced from Dushyanta Maharaju. From a King Malladeva the authority of inscription is cited here and there. Some rulers are dealt with in detail giving an account of their achievements. As usual the inams, grants of lands, etc., are mentioned giving particulars of some scriptions. An account of temples is given, the information being scattered here and there. The Muslim contract is traced in the last two folios.

M 382. అన్నపల్లె (ANNAPALLE).

Folio 73. This folio is almost moth eaten. This is about Annapalle, Nothing can be made out.

M 383. ఎంపరాల (YEMPARALA).

Folios 74 to 89-A. Kaifeout of Yemparala as contributed by Siva Ramudu and Appayya, karnams of the place. A long legend of a wild pig which gave birth to five Siva Lingams is described. The place of Pancha Lingala Kona and another village of Yemperala nearby, built by a Prince are described. The history is traced giving the datails of the chiefs and their conquests of these places from time to time. The decay of the foot also is described. The information from hearsay is detailed here. The temple activities and the places of worship are given throughout the record. The rule by Nellore Kings is traced towards the last portion of these folios. The rulers of Muslims are traced in chronological order giving details of their grants and some changes made.

M 384. బుక్కయపల్లె (BUKKAYAPALLE).

Folios 89-B to 90. A short account of Bukkayapalle built by Peda Bukkaya, a senior peon of Veeramalla Raju. The origin of the place, an account of the temple Gopalaswamy, the development of the places, and finally the decay are traced.

M 385. జువ్వలపల్లె (JUVVALAPALLE).

Folios 91 to 97. Kaifeout of village of Juvvalapalle as contributed by Kondappa, etc. The change of this place under the rule of various kings is narrated with the authority of the inscriptions giving the place and the date of the records. The improvement of the temples is traced giving the extents of donation and the names of the donors. The invasion of Tippu, the battles between some chiefs and the changes made by them are recorded. The agraharams that were granted are mentioned. Its boundaries are given at the end.

Volume 115.

Substance, paper. Size, quarto demy. Appearance, old. Not well bound. Many folios are loose. Much moth eaten. Complete. Handwriting is clear and legible. There are different scribes and different accounts. At the end the names of the scribes Narayanarao and Ramadoss Panthulu are given. The year is 1810. This volume is transcribed by Brown in L.R., Volume 18. Another restored volume is No. R. 1127. There are 133 folios of which the first four give the contents of the volume.

M 386. దువ్వూరు (DUVVUR).

Folios 5 to 42. An elaborate general account of Duvvur districts. The history of this ancient place is traced from the days of Puranic age with so many legends. History from 1000 A.D. afterwards is traced with the authority of inscriptions mentioned ; the texts of the inscriptions are not given. This place is described as being originally Durvasa Asram. The story of Ahava Malla Deva, reconstructing the place and building Siva temple is detailed. An inscription in Halekannada in Moolastaneswara temple (1091 A.D.) is copied. The rule of Yadava Kings, the temples built by them are described. The rule of Ganga Maha Deva Raju 1259 A.D., who made this an agraharam is given. The rule of various kings and Chiefs, the duration of their sway and the particulars of buildings temples, grants of lands and donations are recorded in chronological order. All dates are in Sali Saka. The inscriptions are mentioned and in some cases, the text is given where-ever available to substantiate the history given. Folio 14 gives the geneological table of Mallabhoopala (time not known). Some portions of the inscription in Irumadaka are given here. All the temples, all the villages on all sides of Duvvur are given in detail. In tracing the rulers the history of the kings, their family relations, and their grants of lands, etc., are mentioned. In case of Agraharams, sārvamanyams, and other inams, the names of donors, donee, the time, extents, etc., are given.

Folios 43 to 133. This is a long kaifeout of Siddantam divided into three chapters as below :—

(1) Folios 45 to 58 A. The greatness and importance of the place of Siddantam as described in Scanda puranam—complete text is in Sanskrit.

(2) Folios 58-B to 68. Contain the gist of the above account in Telugu.

M 387. సిద్ధాంతపు రాజులు (KINGS OF SIDDHANTA).

(3) Folios 69 to 133. An account of the rulers of the place from very ancient times up to the time of the kaifeout. The first chapter describes all the surrounding places of Siddantam giving a detailed description of all Gods in the vicinity. Many legends are told, where Gods gave salvation to Bhaktas. This is divided into five chapters but there appears no need for this division.

Folios 58-B to 67. Give the same account in Telugu. But this is much concise compared with the original in Sanskrit. But the matter is followed in the same sequence.

M 388. కొందరు రాజులు పాలన (SOME KINGS AND THEIR RULE).

Folios 68 to 133. This is an elaborate account of the rulers of the place. The rulers are traced from very ancient times. The account is full of legends and puranic personalities up to folio 72. The legend of Nandana King, giving agraharams is described in folio 72. The rulers from Vittelopa Devar (folio 73) of Sali 1673 are traced, giving some proof of inscriptions. The places of the inscriptions are also mentioned. After describing a line of kings, a short note about the country under their rule is given. The temples, the tanks, etc., and their improvements are mentioned during that time. The story of Khadga tikkana and Katamaraju is narrated from folio 76. The heroic deeds of Veera Malla, during the rule of Siddachola Kings are described.

Folio 82. Here and there, so many inscriptions are mentioned. The text of the inscription is attempted to be given completely as far as possible. But almost all are reported to be incomplete and broken. The inscriptions give the information about the creation of agraharams, and donations to Gods. All the history is traced in chronological order and the history is somehow disconnected. But the information is of no use as history. The information about kings is all legendry. Many small villages are mentioned incidentally and the origin of each name is traced. For everything there is a small story. The rule under Vizianagram Empire is traced from folio 96. Folio 106 onwards, the Muslim contact is traced. The jagirs of eight villages that were created in Muslim period are given in folio 107. How Abdul Nabi Khan entered the fort of Siddantam under Mahratta Kings, under the pretext of keeping females there and how he captured the place is described (folio 109). The line of Muslim rulers is traced from here. Some of the diplomatic steps taken by them are described. Some battles between Muslim rulers of Sri Rangam and rulers of Siddhavatam are described. The incidents are narrated in detail. The battle between Hussain Miyya and Gaffur Miyya is described at length. From folio 125, the name of the Muslim ruler, and his period are mentioned giving no details. From folio 125-B a battle between Asadalli Khan of Chitivole and Venkata Raghavaraju and the defeat of Raghavaraju are described. From folio 127, the tanks, crops, mountains and surrounding villages, etc., are recorded.

M 440. తెరనికల్లు (TERANIKALLU).

Folios 75 to 94. This is an account of the village Teranikallu in Panchapalyam district.

In the beginning this gives a detailed account of the 10 villages under the control of the Yadava herdsmen. The origin of the name of the place is given. The two villages, Kotakanda and Chanugonda, and other 96 villages seem to be under the control of Venkannanayudu. His only son was Paramappa Naidu. This Paramappa Naidu has got 8 sons. The description of the villages owned by these 8 sons is given. The fight between Gopala Naidu and Raja Bhima Singh is given. The terms of treaty are also described. The battles between Venkatadri Naidu and Murahari Rao with the Moghul Gulam Allikhan and Asadallikhan are also fully described.

In Roudri (Telugu year), the East India Company takes over the charge of Teranikallu and appoints Raghunadha Nayudu to look after Golyam and Panchapalyam. A picturesque description of the revolt of the Teranikallu villages against the East India Company is given. Sunkireddi, Pesaladinne Nadappa and Tabjulupalli Rami Reddi will be killed in the encounter. The full scene of the battle is described. In the end, Reddi Karanam, the ring leader also will be killed. The peculiar story is they bury the idol of Madhavswami worshipped by the huntsmen. Some people escape the death and they catch hold of all these men and put them in Bellary jail.

In the year 1802, they appoint Bhylupalli Reddisani and Medakka as mirasi and ask them to proceed towards north along the banks of the Audi. Some people actually go there and occupy these lands with cultivation as their main occupation when the Collector appoints Raghunadha Rao to look after Golyam and Bhima Rao to look after Panchapalyam. This Bhima Rao being responsible for the improvement of the village Teranikallu, it is named after him as Bhimapatnam, which is also in the Government records. Six others who escaped will be imprisoned in Bellary jail for 5 years. After that term, they are let off. A brief survey of the temples around the village is given.

The above is the account given by Narayana Rao under the guidance of Mr. Ward, Assistant Surveyor-General, on July 9, 1809.
